

War of the Portal

Part 2, Chapter 18 - "Action"

March 15, 2005

By Alkador

The group gathered in a circle outside the house as ramagi threw a small flame to burn over wood and provide warmth for everyone. She moved back as she sat on the ground, waiting for Gfoxcook to speak.

"We have to take action tonight, now," He said. "Tonight, we will all go to a small geothermal vent and release the cure there. And after that, we will wait for the outcome."

"How are we going to put the cure into the portal?" Asked ReconRebel.

"It shouldn't be too difficult," Responded the guard. "All we need is an opening large enough to see the threads and then we just pour in it."

"What about the situation with Dobio?" Asked Qwoxyl.

"We are still unsure of that," Answered TheJoe324. "We will have to assume that Kiba has taken care of the situation."

"And what if something were to go wrong?" Replied FIGMENTUM. "What if he were to find us there?"

"We will split," Smiled Jonthomson. "North of the thermal, is an abandoned military base. Once we get there, we will assign a command and set ourselves up. The place has a good defence perimeter so we should be safe."

"And are there any other threats," Inquired -Mazza-. "That we should be aware of?"

"Not that we know of," Sighed ShittyKitty. "The only people we have to really worry about are Dobio and the submissions."

Slightly_Crazy_Dude took the opportunity to ask questions. "Jonthomson, how did you survive?"

The guard stared into the man's eyes as he spoke. "I don't know really, but the submission was no normal one."

"You go after the man – I'll take care of this," Said Jonthomson. "Gfoxcook, take Recon and heal him. We are close to the crevice and I should be able to use some of the Power. Just, go!" The demon only smiled at Jonthomson. For a while, they were motionless, only staring at one another as to what seemed like an unimaginable rage.

The demon spoke suddenly. "You may be able to stop me, but you cannot stop all of us."

"What do you mean?" Asked Jonthomson.

"The sacred Geminus lords tell us that we will rise above all and prevail."

"Geminus lords? I don't understand you."

The demon laughed. "Soon, the time for us will come. We already have partial control over this world and soon we will become the superior race of this world. Our first to step is to release one of our Geminus lords. With that completed, we will rule above all and our power shall shine."

"Your submission will never take over this world! We will destroy you all!"

The demon laughed at Jonthomson. "I see a great hunger in you. The man who wishes to destroy us is succeeding, but there are mortal fools trying to stop him. But you, yes you will be a part of the man who wishes to destroy, soon."

"I don't understand you! I'm already helping my friends to destroy all of you!"

The demon only laughed as he turned around and saw the oncoming blast. "Do not fear," He smiled. "The time is nigh. We will meet again, when I will be serving my Geminus lord!"

"And after that, we were all next to each other." Finished Jonthomson.

"I understand," Responded RedCircle. "We are the men trying to destroy the submissions, yet Dobio is the one who is trying to stop us. But I don't get the part where that demon said you will be a part of the man who wishes to destroy all. I'm sure there's more to it."

"This is bad then," Said XwaynecoltX. "The submissions are going to begin their uprising."

"Not only that," Muttered Gfoxcook. "But they're going to release one of the two Geminus lords."

"What exactly is the Geminus lord?" Pondered MPA, while he scratched his head.

"The Geminus lords," DOGMA said. "Are the rulers of the portal. Their powers are beyond extreme and they control the life and death of submissions. If they are to come out and bring the submission with them, that will mean total annihilation for this world."

"Then we had better go to the this thermal vent and place the cure in the portal before they become any stronger." Said Afterburner.

"And then, we will meet up, if anything is go to wrong." Finished Gfoxcook. And with that, the huge group picked up their supplies and weapons and moved northwards, towards the geothermal vent that would be their last hope. Their last hope to succeed.